We Don't Sell Products, We Deliver Solutions

E-Distribution develops the right customer-centered solution for each project vs. designing systems for specific brands or equipment. We are best known… and appreciated by our clients… for our ability to make use of as much of your existing systems as possible to meet your new needs. Our in-house engineers, project managers and professional installers provide seamless support through the entirety of your project.

Owner, Brad Emerson, launched E-Distribution in 2003 with two decades of experience in material handling. He has built a team of experts who share his desire to deliver results for the customer and not the supplier. The E-Distribution team has accomplished much on behalf of their customers, but our most significant achievement is that first-time E-Distribution customers become loyal customers.

E-Distribution Specialties:

- Expert Systems Design – Experienced systems engineers solve facility challenges with creative, budget-friendly and efficient solutions.
- Experienced Integration – Seamless project management integration using a trusted network of manufacturers and suppliers.
- Professional Installation – Experienced, licensed & insured crews install all major manufacturer systems adhering to safety and compliance standards.
